

Best Practice-II

1. Title of the Practice:

Rakhi Making for the soldiers on the border

2. Objectives:

- To instil the patriotic and nationalistic fervour among students
- To understand the dedication and devotion of the front line soldiers
- To make an attempt to show gratitude and respect to their work
- To develop the rakhi making (craft) skill
- To encourage the students for the self-employment

In the world of technology everyone is busy with their gadgets. Especially Young generation is captivated by new inventions of modern world. When we enjoy in leisure time or celebrate our festivals, our soldiers protect our borders in the harsh weather conditions. To make our students understand their sacrifice and to pay the respect towards their work we have planned this activity in the month of July on the occasion of Rakhi Pournima. The Head of the Home Economics Department with the students has planned the activity. After drafting an action plan the permission of the principal is taken and the message regarding the activity is communicated to the students and staff members through the notice. The students of Home Economics has collected the donation from peer students and staff members to make Rakhis. The Head of the Department and the students have selected the material and purchased it. The schedule of preparing Rakhis is displayed on the board. Students have prepared almost 1000 rakhis which are sent to the border through 'Prahar Military School' Ravinagar Nagpur. All the staff members have participated in the activity happily and cooperated the Head of Home-Economics department. The college has received appreciation letter from Commander Lalit Jain and Col. M.K. Sharma.

